06/27/23

The company details progress from the previous fiscal year across its brands, supply chain, operations, people and communities

SHELTON, Conn., June 27, 2023 /PRNewswire/ -- Edgewell Personal Care Company (NYSE: EPC) released its fiscal 2022 Sustainability Report, which details the progress the company has made over the past fiscal year – from innovating products, transforming packaging and reducing its environmental footprint across its global operations to engaging with its suppliers and prioritizing people-first policies and practices.

"I am proud of the progress we have made against our commitments across all three of our sustainability pillars year-over-year," said Rod Little, President and Chief Executive Officer. "As a critical part of our strategic growth strategy, these commitments are enabling Edgewell to show up in market as a modern and responsible consumer goods company. Transparency of ESG commitments and showing steady progress against them is becoming increasingly more important to investors. We also notice shifts in Gen Z and Millennial consumers who increasingly want to buy from and work for organizations that share their values, and I believe we are well-positioned for success with our stakeholders."

The company and its global network of teammates are dedicated to achieving steady progress against the commitments made through its Sustainable Care 2030 strategy. In fiscal 2022, Edgewell continued to promote sustainability throughout the organization's brands, supply chain and operations and through its people and communities.

Vice President of Global Sustainability, Amy Knight, stated, "Caring for people and our planet is at the heart of everything we do. As we reflect on the progress made in the third year of our Sustainable Care 2030 strategy, we're proud of the momentum we're building across our business. From delighting our consumers with new product innovation and more sustainable offerings to finding new and creative ways to conserve energy, reduce waste and engage our local communities to join us in our journey, we are making significant advancements toward our goals and ambitions. Our teammates continue to exemplify our value of 'owning it together,' and for that I am incredibly proud."
