The Company Discloses Its Progress From the 2023 Fiscal Year Across Its Business and Functions

SHELTON, Conn., June 18, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- Edgewell Personal Care Company (NYSE: EPC) has released its fiscal 2023 Sustainability Report, which details the sustainability progress the company has made over the past year in its efforts to enable the business to 'Move Forward'. The report outlines key actions and progress in advancing the Company's Sustainable Care 2030 commitments across its brands, operations and supply chain, as well as through supporting its teammates and communities around the world.

Rod Little, CEO of Edgewell Personal Care stated, "With the launch of this year's report, I continue to have an optimistic outlook on our company's growth strategy and sustainability journey. I am pleased to say that our business continues to deliver consistent, structural top-line growth, fueled by a stronger portfolio of brands and underpinned by the strides we have made across brand building, product innovation, retail execution and eCommerce activation. Sustainability is one of the most important topics facing our global future and equally important is the vibrant culture and people that make up our organization. Being named as the Forbes #2 Best Midsize Company to work for in America, we take our Purpose, Values and Behaviors seriously and continue to live by them and work together to make our community a positive and supportive one. By continually striving to work toward our sustainability commitments throughout the business and wherever possible, we demonstrate our dedication and commitment to doing our small part to care for our planet and I am confident that Edgewell will continue to make progress moving forward."

In fiscal 2023, Edgewell continued to drive progress in advancing its sustainability objectives, which can be seen through its highlights and recognition:

- Named as a Connecticut Top Workplace of 2023 by Hearst Media Services, based on a survey of teammate experiences and sentiment

Edgewell also continued to make notable advancements through product and packaging innovation. Its sun care brand, Banana Boat, launched a disruptive packaging innovation in the sunscreen category – the Banana Boat 360 Coverage Sunscreen Mist. The new suncare innovation features a reusable sprayer,³ with corresponding refill bottles that contain 25% post consumer recycled (PCR) plastic⁴ and are recyclable where recycling facilities exist.⁵

Amy Knight, Vice President of Global Sustainability said, "At Edgewell, we are dedicated to Moving Forward. Throughout FY23, our passionate teammates across the globe have continued to bring this sentiment to life – whether through evolving products that inspire moments of consumer joy or embracing opportunities to reduce waste, emissions, energy use and water consumption. I am so proud to see how engaged our teammates are in pushing our Sustainable Care 2030 strategy onward, collectively delivering progress against our goals, ambitions and vision. I am proud of what we've accomplished so far, and know we have a bright future ahead of us on our sustainability journey."
